

LENROOT MADE HIS BOW TODAY

Former Speaker Of The Legislature Is In Madison On Senatorial Business.

STEPHENSON CLAIMS LA FOLLETTE

Marinette Man Announces Junior Senator Has Promised Him His Support In The Fight For The Toga.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 7.—Isaac Stephenson, Marinette, has been elected to the Wisconsin senatorial district by Irving L. Lenroot, Superior, former speaker of the assembly and defeated candidate for the gubernatorial nomination last fall. The Superior man arrived this evening and his room at the Avenue hotel at once became a center of attraction. Many members of the assembly and some senators called upon him and offered him support, if he should be a candidate for the seat recently resigned by John C. Spooner. One reason for Lenroot's apparent flying start is an insistent demand that the northern part of the state, particularly a lake port, be represented. Shortly after the arrival of Lenroot, Senator George B. Hudnall, Superior, spoke to the representatives of the eleventh congressional district, told them he might be a candidate, and inferred that he would like it if they would not pledge themselves so far that they could not at any time be free to support him if they desired. Lenroot frankly stated that he might enter the race, but said he would have to wait until looking over the situation. However, there is little doubt entertained that he will be a candidate. His arrival accentuated the efforts of the Davidson workers to secure votes for the governor, and some bitterness is appearing, indicating an attempt to make it appear that this is the fight of last September over again and that the same result ought to be accomplished, the success of Davidson or Lenroot.

Esch's District
A significant development occurred in the seventh district delegation, supposed to be uniting in favor of Congressman Esch. A report gained circulation to the effect that Esch had declared he would not be a candidate if Lenroot came out, but an attempt to verify it disclosed that Esch had only if Lenroot refused to run. This indicated weakness of Esch and strength of Lenroot. Senator Sanborn, Ashland, is favorably mentioned and seems to be growing in favor, but still declares he is not a candidate. Some first district men are for Rep. Cooper, but nothing has been heard from him and signs are appearing that Lenroot and Davidson will "benevolently assimilate" several first district votes. Stephenson, who was the first to enter the field and who two days ago was a hot favorite, has lost his position where he was admired by everybody, but will be voted for only by his aged old friend, Senator Bird, his protégé and beneficiary, Assemblyman LeRoy and a few other neighbors.

"Ve Germans"
"Ve Germans must tozeder sticken." This phrase, heard tonight in the statehouse corridors, may be the beginning of a potent movement concerning the state. Teutonic representatives are just waking up here and are raising a demand for the election of a German. They assert that there are in Wisconsin five times as many Germans as Norwegians, Swedes, Danes and all other Scandinavians combined. The Germans are getting roused up to the situation and although they seem to be late in getting into the game, they are nevertheless insistent. The last time they got aroused in this state was 16 years ago when they rebelled against the Bennett compulsory education law and put Democrats in the state offices for four years. They want a German senator, but the only name mentioned thus far is that of George Brumder, the publisher of Milwaukee.

Lenroot Ready
Ex-Speaker L. Lenroot of Superior will probably announce his candidacy as successor to Senator John C. Spooner, but the announcement is unlikely to be made today. Mr. Lenroot arrived in Madison last evening, having passed through the city earlier in the day from the north. It was known that he had been in communication with Alfred T. Rogers, law partner and political representative of Senator La Follette, and went south. It was given out to the trusting inquirers that Mr. Lenroot came all the way from Superior to attend to some law business in Janesville. This might be taken to mean a fine testimonial to his growing legal practice, to attract him from the most northern spot in the state to within 14 miles of the southern boundary. Lenroot had it not leaked out that the former speaker had not stopped at Janesville, but went on to Chicago. Rumor had it that Mr. Lenroot met Congressman John M. Nelson in Chicago and the two came together to Madison and Mr. Nelson gave Mr. Lenroot messages and instructions from Senator La Follette, who is sick in Washington. Mr. Nelson reached Madison as scheduled, but denied being the messenger of the senator. He declared that he had been too busy with the closing rush of congressional business to pay attention to the surprising developments related to the senatorship. Mr. Nelson did not attend the conference or caucus or council of war held last night by Mr. Lenroot in the Brown block. This gathering lasted until the patience of some newspaper correspondents became exhausted at 1:30 this morning. No decision was reached, it was said, and if Mr. Lenroot decided to become a candidate, the announcement would doubtless not come for a day or two at least. It is hard to find any one who doubts the intention of Mr. Lenroot to be a candidate.

Hatten's Chances
While the Lenroot meeting was dragging its weary length out toward the morning hours, W. H. Dick, business partner and political representative of ex-Senator William H. Hatten of New London, spoke with his chief by long distance telephone. Mr. Hatten is in Chicago. The situation in advising Mr. Hatten to come to Madison at once, and he arrived this morning, but it is not determined whether or not he will be a candidate. Mr. Hatten is a modest man and his friends are not finding it easy to get him into the race. The meat of the situation is that Mr. Lenroot is now the strongest candidate, that he will doubtless lead the bunch at the start, but it is declared that the first break will come in his camp. The manager of almost every camp claims that when the break-up comes his man will be benefited.

Congressman Cooper, ex-Senator Hatten and ex-Speaker Lenroot are on the ground, waiting for the "psychological moment" to show their castors into the senatorial ring. Friends of all are working for votes, as are the friends of Gov. Davidson, but Isaac Stephenson remains the only unopposed candidate.

Another investigation is to be made of the soldiers' home at Waupaca. The assembly adopted a strong resolution to this effect and a bill to the same effect was introduced by the committee on military affairs.

Brownsville's Affair
The assembly received a favorable committee recommendation on the Brownsville resolution introduced by a "member of color," Palmer of Milwaukee. The resolution calls upon congress to investigate the discharge of colored troops and see that the innocent men do not suffer.

Refuse Report
The senate refused to confirm an adverse report from the state affairs committee on a memorial to congress to the appropriation for deepening the upper channel of the Mississippi. The resolution went back to the committee and will probably be adopted.

Stephenson's Word
Marinette, Wis., March 7.—Isaac Stephenson says that Senator La Follette has promised him his full support for the senatorship and will announce it shortly.

STROTHERSBROTHERS DECLARED NOT GUILTY

Cleared by Jury of Charge of Killing Man Who Ruined Their Sister.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Culpeper, Va., March 7.—The jury in the case of the Strotcher Brothers, charged with the murder of their brother-in-law after he had married the girl he had wronged, brought in a verdict this noon completely clearing the two men of the charge. The murder came after the brother-in-law, who had married his wife at the point of a revolver, had torn away from her with an idea of deserting her and was trying to escape from his brother-in-law when shot and killed. The prominence of the families has caused considerable interest in the case. The sentiment was with the Strotchers.

In discharging the jury Judge Harrison said: "Gentlemen, I think you for the verdict, which I think you have approved by the public. It is an established precedent in the state of Virginia that no man tried for defending the sanctity of his home should be found guilty."

DR. DAVID ROBINSON
KILLED IN IRELAND
 Former Janesville Practitioner Fell
 Down a Stairway and Broke
 His Neck.
 Word has been received here of the tragic death near Manor Hamilton, county Leitrim, Ireland, of Dr. David Robinson who, for a period of two and a half or three years, over a decade ago, was a practitioner in Janesville. His end came on a Tuesday evening during the latter part of February. He had gone from the city to his brother's home in Glenboy and was preparing to retire when he slipped at the head of the stair-cause and fell down the whole flight, breaking his neck and dying almost instantly.
 The deceased was 55 years of age and was a brother of Sergeant Major Robinson of London and Dr. Robinson of Ballintra, county Donegal. His office while in Janesville, was in the Merrill block on West Milwaukee street. He wore a silk tile and was a conspicuous figure on the local streets.

ASKS LEAF GROWERS
TO MEET AT MADISON
 American Society of Equity Wants to Organize Them on March 21.
 Notices have been issued by S. D.
 Kump, of Cambridge, Wis., secretary, of the Wisconsin State Union of the American Society of Equity, that a convention of the Badger State tobacco growers will be held at the court house in the city of Madison on March 21, beginning at 10 a. m. Growers will be welcomed whether they belong to the association or not. The purpose is to bring about a more thorough organization of the tobacco growers of the state, recent occurrences in the leaf trade seeming to indicate that it is most necessary for the growers to act in union. This is the movement which C. W. Mc-Carthy of the town of Porter who recently addressed the Evansville farmers' institute and a meeting of farmers in Janesville, is pushing.

BAKER MILITARY BAND OF EVANSVILLE
 —Published by Courtesy of the Evansville Review.
 One of the strongest and best known musical organizations in southern Wisconsin is the Baker Military band of Evansville. It is composed of thirty members, each one an artist on the instrument he plays, and is led by a competent, expert director.
 The uniforms are clean and neat and stylish in design and each appearance of the band is a success.
 This band was organized four years ago among the employees of the Baker Manufacturing company. No financial aid was or has since been asked from the citizens of Evansville, but the support comes from fees paid on public occasions, and the proceeds of regular concerts and dances.
 During the infancy of the organization Herbert Wright drilled the band through the intricacies of the scale and the major and minor notes, but after several months was succeeded by Elmer Scoville. Under his leadership the band advanced rapidly and two years ago J. H. Johnson, was chosen as permanent leader. With the co-operation of the members he has placed the band in its present place of prominence and in a warm spot in the hearts of Evansville people.
 Twenty-six of the members are shown in the above picture. They are: Charles Gray, Joe Bodenberger, Albert Blunt, Clyde Fisher, Max Fisher, Charles Critchfield, Ben Gray, Roy Rockford, Chester Morgan, Clarence
 Baker, D. Smith, Ben Bly, Paul Paulson, George Gray, Ray Hubbard, Ezra Glidden, Almer Herbert, Charles Merwin, M. Park, Chris Hanson, Len Courtier, Art Richardson, Avnal Park, Harmon Ellis, Elmer Libby, Arthur Clark and Leader J. H. Johnson.
 Arthur Clark is a Janesville boy, who was teaching in the Evansville high school at the time the picture was taken. Since then he has taken a place on the faculty of the Michigan Agricultural college at Lansing, Mich.

Town Talk.
 What is the street-car conductor to do when asked by a lady who has forgotten her pocket-book to extend a line of credit? He knows that she will pay eventually; if she does not forget the trifling debt. But there's the rub. Some are thoughtful and punctual about meeting their small obligations and others are not. Lately the set of books which Conductor
 Thorpe, who travels with the Forest Park car has been keeping have shown a big increase in debts with no corresponding offset in credits.
 Long experience convinced him that "trusting" his lady patrons was a losing venture, and he resolved on a drastic "no cash, no ride" program.
 of action as a temporary expedient.
 Mrs. Q. of Quality Hill, who had never before had occasion to ask to be put on the tab but prided herself on a most excellent prompt pay rating, boarded the car without any money but with serene confidence in the obliging conductor. When the worm turns the innocent are always the first to suffer.
 "I left my pocket-book at home but I will pay you—
 "Madam, this trusting business has been a losing proposition with me.
 I'm sorry but I will have to have the fare."
 "Very well. Kindly stop the car.
 I will walk."
 The conductor remained steadfast to his purpose. The bell rang, a very angry passenger disembarked, and the car resumed its profitless pilgrimage to the heart of the city.

For some the rigor of strict lenten observance and self denial is in force only while they chance to be within the gates of the home city. This is no hypocrisy but a course of conduct based on the idea that resolutions, made under given circumstances and environment, are no longer binding
 and give way to the "Do as the Romans do" maxim when one is abroad.
 Still, the non-observer whose sister-in-law refused the social cup of tea which had been made for her with some effort, was considerably nettled when she learned that the one who had thus declined to be sociable at her home had subsequently, in company with a band of merry excursionists, participated in a swell dinner at Rockford.

ARGUING WITH THE
SOLONS AT MADISON
 Supts. H. C. Buell and Charles Hemington Want Additional State Aid for Schools.
 H. C. Buell and C. H. Hemington left this morning for Madison, where they expected to appear this afternoon before the legislature's joint committee on education. Supt. Buell is to set forth the benefits to be derived from manual training in the high schools and grades and argue in favor of the bill which provides for special state aid for the schools maintaining such departments. Supt.
 Hemington is to argue in favor of bill 150 S. which provides for special aid to any rural school which maintains a good school building and outbuildings, hires an experienced teacher, and does efficient work. There are many rural schools in Rock county which are in this class now and others could easily get in and would do so if there were an inducement of this kind. Rock county would profit by the passage of the measure and its progress will be watched with interest.

MR. INGERSOLL HAS
BREATHED HIS LAST
 At Time of Retiring, from Active
 Life He Was Oldest Traveling Man in Wisconsin.
 Shortly before ten o'clock this morning Allen James Ingersoll passed away at his home, 152 South Jackson street. He had been ill in health for more than four years, but it was not until a week ago yesterday that a general breaking down forced him to his bed. Since then he had suffered much and the end came as a relief.
 Mr. Ingersoll was born in Newburg, Ohio, December 10, 1820, and the greater part of his life up till thirty years ago was spent in that state.
 When a young man he was married
 there and one son, Avery M. Ingersoll of Tacoma, Wash., survives. His second marriage was solemnized May 11, 1870, his bride being Miss Augusta
 Wood. She is left to mourn his demise.
 For many years Mr. Ingersoll was interested in lumber mills at New Lisbon and Winneconne, Wis., but on coming to this city thirteen years ago he became a traveling salesman.
 When he retired from active life a little over four years ago he was the oldest commercial traveler in Wisconsin and was an honored member of the U. C. T.
 The deceased was a mason of prominence, belonging to the Bedford,
 Ohio, lodge, F. & A. M., and Summit
 Chapter, No. 74, R. A. M., of Bedford.
 For the past few years Mr. Ingersoll, whose name was on the honorary roll, was the only living charter member of that chapter and at their fifteenth anniversary jubilee last December an enlarged picture of him was "placed in the east" and he was officially named "The Grand Old Man" of the chapter.
 Notice of the funeral will be given later.

LOCAL HISTORICAL SOCIETY PLANNED
 Will Be Branch of Wisconsin Archaeological Organization—To Be Connected with Library.
 There is now on foot a move to form a Janesville branch of the Wisconsin Archaeological Society and such steps have already been taken that the organization is practically assured. Halvor L. Siverson and Horace McElroy are the active spirits in the project and twelve or fifteen other prominent residents are interested. Among these are Attorney A.
 A. Jackson, Attorney Francis Grant and Fred L. Clemons. These men have arranged with the members of the public library to closely associate the society with that institution, having secured the use of one of the basement rooms in the Carnegie building and planned to place their books on the public shelves. The embryo association has already received five volumes of "The Wisconsin Archaeologist," a gift from Charles J. E.
 Brown of Milwaukee, secretary of the state society.

BRODHEAD SCHOOL
PRINCIPAL FINED
 In Monroe Court He Was Found Guilty of Assaulting Former Student.
 By a jury trial in Justice Ruegger's court at Monroe, Fred Harrison, principal of the public schools at Brodhead, was found guilty of assault and battery on the person of sixteen-year-old Harold Paule, a former student in the Brodhead high school. A fine of $5 and costs, aggregating $75, was assessed and paid. During the taking of testimony it developed that the assault occurred eight rods from the school building and that the victim was not at the time a student in the school, having left because of trouble
 last spring. The actions of Paule, who was smoking, so enraged Harrison that a wordy altercation ensued and then Harrison seized the boy with one hand and with the other struck him at least three times in the face,
 finally throwing him in the road.
 Paule suffered a cut over one eye
 and bruises about the nose and chin.

"THE OLD SCRATCH."
 How the Evil One Came to be Popularly Known as "The Old Scratch." One of the many familiar names of his satanic majesty is "The Old Scratch." It is undoubtedly due to the fact that scratching is so disagreeable that people thought it no worse than the evil one. A scalp full of dandruff keeps one scratching all the time; not only disagreeable but considered very inelegant in polite society—as it should be—because "one ought to keep the scalp so clean that it would not itch." To cure the scalp of dandruff effectively, use Newbro's Herpicide. It kills the germ that creates the dandruff, which is preliminary to falling hair and, finally, baldness. No other hair preparation kills the dandruff germ. Herpicide is also a very delightful and effective hair-dressing. Send 10c in stamps for sample to "The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich."
 Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00.

Mill Hand
Expected to Die
 Three years ago, W. L. Webster, a fering with bronchitis and consumption.

 Medicine began taking it faithfully

EXPERIENCE VALUABLE.
 The county superintendent, more than any other county officer can give better service because of his continuance in office. It takes time to become acquainted with the school houses and their equipment, the school districts and their peculiarities, the school officers and their characteristics.
 This district can be appealed to through its pride; this one must be coerced; This teacher would prove very satisfactory in district number one, while she would be a complete failure in number three. An acquaintance with school conditions can not be secured in a minute. While a new superintendent is learning how to do the tried and true can get results.
 Why make a change at this time?
 Supt. Hemington knows the conditions and the remedies. He has had the courage to blaze the way. Why continue him? Every other Rock county superintendent has been re-elected as long as he wished to serve —almost on the theory that he was better able to transact the duties of the office because of his long continuance in office. Supt. Hemington is serving his second term and has proved an efficient officer. The voters of his superintendent district should re-elect him.

KICKERS' KOLUM
 No "Red Tape" to Be Untied.
 To the Editor:
 Yesterday's edition of our daily papers told of the sad death of a man suffering from the acute form of disease known to the people under the name of pneumonia. There are few families who have not had a melancholy personal knowledge of the rapid progress of this peculiar ailment common in the winter season and so prone to end fatally, even with the most prompt and intelligent medical skill and careful nursing. Certain death must be expected when the patient is neglected or exposed to cold.
 Pneumonia is of such a nature that the crisis comes within about a week. The patient is either convalescing or dead in a short space of time; therefore, requires immediate intelligent care.
 Janesville should provide a plan where such people can be taken and lives saved. It is a disgrace that in a civilized age, and in a civilized country, no provision is made for the care of the sick poor nor accident cases. A city as populous and prosperous as our city of Janesville is surely able to make ample provision for emergency cases by using a portion of its tax income for that purpose.
 Our city fathers should look to it.
 They say the city has no authority to pay for the sick or injured; no provision of that nature being made by the city laws. If such is truly the case, the city laws surely need to be amended, for it is a sad state of affairs. Cities, yes, villages, much smaller than Janesville, have fine institutions for the care of their sick and injured, provided by the thoughtful Christian sentiments of their citizens,
 where they may be taken any hour
 of the day or night.
 An opportunity for such an institution is now offered to the people of Janesville, who are just now being called upon to aid financially in the erection of such a place. An effort is now being made to get all our people, regardless of various denominational creeds, to unite in one grand effort to procure funds to buy the present hospital and build an addition to enable the Sisters to care for all who may need their services. Let the people not think that the sum asked for is not for the amusement or recreation it may offer the purchaser of a ticket, let them remember the money is truly a donation for a most worthy charitable object, therefore, give freely, willingly, thus giving a helping hand to further the good work so sadly needed in Janesville.

Let us have a good hospital to which our people can point with pride and pleasure as a proof that our people are animated with a human Christian spirit. Let this reproach of Janesville be wiped out by the generous noble spirit of our citizens. The Sisters who are to have the management of the proposed hospital assure us that they will take in any patient regardless of creed or color. Only two questions are to be answered: Is the person in need of hospital service, and is there room to accommodate the patient? There will be no need to send a patient to any one to obtain permission to enter the hospital.
 The Sisters will have no "Red Tape" to untie; their doors are always open to those who need their care.

Let the Janesville people now use their combined efforts to establish such an institution in their city.

Simon Guggenheim

Hon. Simon Guggenheim, miner, smelter and newly chosen United States senator from Colorado, was born in Philadelphia, December 30, 1867. He was educated in the public schools of Philadelphia and then went abroad for two years, where he studied foreign languages. Senator Guggenheim was married in New York on November 24, 1893, to Miss Olga Hirsch. He went to Pueblo, Colo., in 1893, and has ever since been prominent in republican politics in this state. He was nominated for governor in 1898, but withdrew from the ticket. He was a republican presidential elector in 1904. Senator Guggenheim is a member of many of the most prominent clubs throughout the country, and is said to be many times a millionaire.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday, March 7, 1867.—We would suggest to those who have the postoffice in charge that an opportunity be given the public to get their mail before 8 o'clock in the morning. The hour will do well enough for lazy folks, but those who have business on their hands and desire to do a good day's work, would like to get their mail as early as half-past seven.

The Lumber Trade.—The sales of lumber in the several yards of the city during the past year, aggregated as follows: 6,800,000 feet of lumber; 3,020,000 shingles; 668,225 lath; 14,000 posts; 2,000 feet of cypress; and 10,000 pickets, amounting in money to $168,000.

New Brand Leaf Cuban Tobacco.—A small quantity of the above celebrated Cuban tobacco seed for sale at Curle Bros., West Milwaukee street. This seed was raised in Connecticut last year and is the best tobacco grown in that State. Being an early variety it is well adapted to this climate.

The Janesville Gazette.—The Janesville Weekly Gazette is decidedly the neatest looking paper that is received in our sanctum. If you want a good state paper send for the Gazette. Polk County Press.

Before The Footlights.

Tuesday evening at the Myers theatre, Bertha Kalich, under the direction of Harrison Grey Fiske will appear in Langdon Mitchell's English version of "The Kreutzer Sonata." This play was written originally for Madame Kalich in the Yiddish tongue by Joseph Gordon, the foremost Jewish playwright of the time and was presented by her with great success during her career on the Yiddish stage. So perfectly, indeed, seemed the role of the heroine to her emotional powers that Mr. Fiske decided upon the play as her vehicle for this season, and had made the English version in which she will appear here for the first time. It is said that Mr. Mitchell has retained all the strength of the original and has at the same time adorned the play with a fine literary quality, and has made the action conform to the best standard of the modern English drama.

The story of the play concerns the family of Raphael Friedlander, a rich Jewish contractor living in Russia, who through shame for the disgrace of her elder daughter, Miriam, emigrates to America, where he first sends his daughter, after having bribed a shallow, vain and unprincipled young musician, to marry her. Miriam had loved a Russian officer who had wished to marry her, and would have done so but for the unyielding opposition of his family. In despair, he killed himself, but the young woman, who had yielded all to him, has been forced to bear the shame of having borne an illegitimate child. The musician comes to New York, where with the aid of money Friedlander had given him, he establishes himself as a teacher. He tortures his wife with constant reference to her disgraces and finally seduces her younger sister, Celina. The misery of the situation gradually effects the mind of Miriam, and in an outburst of insane frenzy a tragic climax is reached. The drama is rich in incidental characters and abounds in comedy related to the minor figures and the subordinate part of the story.

It will readily be seen by those who witnessed Madame Kalich's performance last year, in "Mona Vanna," that the role of Miriam affords ample opportunity for the display of her versatility, as well as her splendid emotional powers, and the fact that she has been successful in it in a foreign tongue, before audiences composed of persons thoroughly acquainted with the life depicted, is an earnest that her impersonation will be of decidedly interesting character.

ANOTHER DISASTER ON PENNSYLVANIA

PASSENGER TRAIN PLUNGES OVER AN EMBANKMENT.

NINE PERSONS INJURED

Natural Gas Main Broken and Victims Are Nearly Suffocated in the Smashed Cars.

Warren, Pa., March 7.—Train No. 33 on the western New York and Pennsylvania division of the Pennsylvania railroad was wrecked Wednesday night between Irvineton and this place. The train plunged over a 25-foot embankment and nine persons were injured, none fatally.

The injured were: Egbert Phelps, Randolph, N. Y., two ribs broken and cut about head and confusions about the body; Mrs. Egbert Phelps, Randolph, N. Y., badly cut about head; Anne Corbett, Parker's Landing, Pa., bad cut over right eye and bruised about the body; R. J. Williams, Elmira, N. Y., leg and back hurt; R. W. Roberts, Chicago, salesman, leg badly cut and bruised about the body; Edward Stebbins, New York, salesman for the DePasse Manufacturing company, hurt about the head; Antonio Kriston, Silver Springs, N. Y., hurt about back; T. J. Cochran, Olean, N. Y., conductor of train No. 33, neck wrenched and back hurt; Joseph Gatz, Olean, N. Y., brakeman, legs crushed.

Two Cars Go Into Pond: The train was running behind a freight from Irvineton to Warren and when three-quarters of a mile from Warren the freight ran on to a siding to allow the passenger train to pass. After the freight was on the siding the passenger started through the switch, which is set from a tower about a quarter of a mile away. The switch was not entirely closed and two cars were thrown from the rails and down an embankment into a pond of water.

Near the railroad track runs a pipe line of the Pennsylvania Gas company, carrying 200 pounds pressure. The pipe line was broken, and the coaches filled with natural gas. There were four passengers in the rear coach, which was turned completely over, and they had a narrow escape from suffocation by gas fumes.

Nearly Every Passenger Hurt: Nearly every passenger on the train was bruised or cut and several were taken to the hospital here for treatment. The wreck which was in the local yards attracted the attention of workmen near by and they assisted the injured on to a freight car and they were brought to this city. All of the ambulances in the town were pressed into service.

Miss Anne Corbett, of Parker's Landing, Pa., who was injured, was coming to Warren, where she was to have been married Wednesday night to Orville Brown, who with a party of friends was waiting for the train. When the wreck became known Brown hired a team and went to the scene, where he assisted in rescuing Miss Corbett and had her taken to a hospital.

Military Secretary is No More: Washington, March 7.—The military secretary's office of the army, which was established for the benefit of Major Gen. Ainsworth, went out of existence Wednesday in accordance with the provisions of the army appropriation bill, and the adjutant general's department was revived. Gen. Ainsworth was sworn in as the adjutant general.

Fair tonight and Friday except snow flurries in eastern portion to night, cooler in western portion to night.

NORCROSS RESOLUTION

Assemblyman Pliny Norcross yesterday introduced in the assembly a resolution relative to the resignation of United States Senator John C. Spooner. Mr. Norcross was a classmate of Senator Spooner in the University, was a member of the legislature of 1885, which first elected him to the senate, and has been a warm personal friend of the retiring statesman. It was fitting that he should introduce the resolution and the assembly in passing it paid a tribute to the greatness of the man who has long ably represented Wisconsin in the upper house of congress. Mr. Norcross' resolution was as follows:

"John C. Spooner, while a student in our state university, enlisted as a private soldier in the Union army. He was honorably mustered out of service with the rank of major, by brevet.

"For two years he was the private secretary of the late Gov. Fairchild.

"In 1872 he was a member of the assembly from St. Croix county. During the next twelve years he became a good lawyer and enjoyed a very lucrative practice. Railroads and municipalities were his clients.

"On the 28th day of January, 1885, at the age of 42 years, and with but very little effort on his part, he was elected to the United States senate. He served one term, when he was succeeded by the Hon. William F. Vilas. He was again elected in 1897 and again in 1903 and is now serving his third term.

"During his sixteen years of service for this state as United States senator he has put all other professional business behind him and has devoted himself exclusively to the duties of the great office to which the people of this state elected him.

"He was thoroughly at home on the floor of the United States senate. He easily stood at the head of the constitutional lawyers in that great forum.

"He has taken a leading part in all of the great debates of the last ten years. His plume has always been seen in the hottest part of the fight. He has been honored by the confidence of all three of the presidents under whom he has served. They have sought his counsel and have relied upon his advice.

"As a constructive statesman, he had no peer. He fought his opponents in oratorical battle, upon the floor of the senate with skill and courage—but when the contest was over, he carried no bitterness in his heart.

"By reason of this, he brought discordant factions to mutual conciliation and agreement and this accomplished good results for the whole republic.

"His ideals were high. His practice was in harmony with his ideals. He has refused cabinet positions and has more than once declined the office of the supreme court. He was always loyal to the principles of the republican party.

"He loved his work in the senate better than any other work of his life. For that work he abandoned all else. For this loyal, patient, self-denying service, he is honored and respected by the people of the whole country. Now, at the very height of his justly earned fame, he has resigned this highest of all honors that the state could give him. We were startled upon receipt of the telegram announcing his resignation. We pause and we ask—is the love of honor and fame dying out of men's hearts?

"Be it resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, that we sincerely regret this surprising decision of our honored senator to give us the joy and ambition of his life and return to the practice of his profession. That we herewith extend to him our hearty appreciation of the faithful service which he has rendered to his country and state; that we tender to him the sincere wish that he may yet live a long, happy and useful life."

CONQUEST BY RAIL

The sentiment of a few does not count much against the wishes of the many. The Alpinists may oppose with all their might the project to scale the Matterhorn with a railway, but the thing will nevertheless be done in spite of the protest. It will not interfere with the mountain climber who trusts to his own legs rather than to the wheels of a locomotive on a cog-and-ratchet railway track. This Ruskinian rage against railways going to the tops of mountains and bringing the world of travel where it may see the greatest wonders of nature will not halt the program to democratize the good things of this life, not because it pays, but because it adds to the pleasure and profit of the greatest number, says the Wall Street Journal.

Conquest by rail is the rule nowadays. If there be any portion of the earth which offers promise of service to man, but which has not yet been brought under his domination, there does not seem to be any lack of talent, adventurous spirit or even of capital to put into the project. Among the projects now being worked upon are the Pan-American railroad which is to connect the North and South American continents and bring the two great divisions of the globe together in one commercial system. Another project is to unite by a tunnel under Behring Strait America and Asia by rail. These are vast schemes, but the world is likely to grow up to them gradually and sooner or later achieve the object of those who are now regarded as dreamers.

A WAY TO MAKE MONEY

First, buy control of a railroad. Second, look over the books and discover the sums paid out of income for improvements, but which are charged to operation.

Third, capitalize these sums. Fourth, pay yourself a dividend from the proceeds in violation of law. Fifth, sell the road to a rival company after the cream has been skimmed.

Professor Richard Lull of Yale has traced the origin of the horse back two million years and makes North America the great theatre for his development. This knocks in the head the story that the horses were first introduced onto the American continent by the Spanish. Of course, history and science differ on essential points, but it is disappointing to learn that this latest theory of the equine race is to be believed and the good old legend of the Spaniards disproved.

Before the ink is fairly dry on Spooner's resignation the unseemly rush for his shoes has begun. By the way, gentlemen, Senator Spooner wears a pair of shoes that will be hard to fill. He has long stood among the leaders of the senate and in seeking his place you should be careful to see that the toga fits and the shoes do not pinch.

If the voters do not select the best man to run municipal affairs on primary day it is their own fault. They have the opportunity of casting their ballot and everyone who has any interest in civic affairs should be on hand to vote for the candidates they think are best fitted for the office.

Janesville tobacco warehouses are busy these days and will be for some time to come. Persons who preach against the use of tobacco would not be warmly received in Rock county, where the growth and packing of the weed give employment to thousands many months in the year.

The small boy who has obscene pictures in his possession should be turned up and spanked by his parents and if he has none by his next of kin. These pictures are worse than the disgusting recital of the Thav trial for corrupting the morals of the youth.

Milwaukee's Boy Mayor is not such a success as he is painted. Milwaukee people, even his former backers, are disgusted with his boyishness and lack of ability to handle city affairs.

The senate has done a wise thing in increasing the cost of construction of the proposed state capitol. It is best to have material as good as can be obtained for so fine a building.

While Stephenson is the only avowed candidate for election to the United States senate there are others who only wait an excuse to seek the honor.

Christian Science is again forced to the defensive by the latest suit brought now by a son of Mrs. Eddy. By and by the truth or falsity of the charges will be known.

One of the eastern papers starts the story that Spooner is out of the Senate so that he can make the run for the presidency.

The aldermanic fights in the fifth and second wards promise to be the ones of the most interest in the coming spring campaign.

There is still much that can be done in the way of municipal government that it might be well to bring up soon.

The question of new school buildings is something that the next council may be called upon to decide.

Gambling exists in Chicago today despite the fact that the police say it does not.

PRESS COMMENT.

New Battle-Cry.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Spooner for president—push it along.

Dope From Stoughton.

Stoughton Hub: Watch Esch. He is the most likely one of the lot.

Still 'Opes.

Milwaukee News: It develops that Uncle Ike has not lost 'opes.

Overwhelming Thought!

Chicago Tribune: Pause a moment and think of La Follette as the senior senator from Wisconsin.

Very Likely—Not.

Eau Claire Leader: Quite now, until Senator La Follette tells us who he wants elected. Will it be Lenroot this time?

Assumption That Is Unwarranted. Chicago News: Mr. Spooner feels that a good many railroads are in need of the services of a great constitutional lawyer.

To Dowieize Mrs. Eddy.

La Crosse Tribune: According to not fully authenticated newspaper reports, there is now on foot an effort to Dowieize Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy.

Dismissed.

Madison Journal: Mr. Stephenson should lose no time in withdrawing his name, and by so doing relieve his friends and the state from an unpleasant situation.

A Tip to Robert.

Milwaukee Sentinel: No man is big enough and no man ought to be arrogant and bumptious enough to regard a Wisconsin senatorship as a part of his political patronage.

Applies Here As in Texas.

El Paso Herald: A good rule to keep in mind in voting at the primaries is to vote for no man whom you would not trust with your own business or name as executor of your estate.

Grassie's Hunch.

Well, a man's a damn fool to tip his mit first crack out of the box. But that's me. It's either Isaac Stephenson or John J. Esch or a dark horse.

Watertown to the Fore.

Watertown Times: Most every city in the state will have a candidate for United States senator. Why not Watertown? Here's a chance for some of our republican statesmen to show their mettle.

Hoard's Admission.

Exchange: Ex-Governor W. D. Hoard says he is not a candidate for United States senator and adds that Senator Spooner outside of La Follette was the greatest statesman Wisconsin ever produced.

Those Do-Nothing Detectives.

Rockford Register-Gazette: Indications are that the man who stole $173,000 from the federal treasury in Chicago will go down in history along with the man who stole Charlie Ross and the one who hit Billy Patterson.

Therefore Hatton.

Appleton Post: We therefore see that Mr. Hatton would not only be a highly available candidate for the United States senate—if he consents to so stand—but that his important services to the state well entitled him to that distinguished honor.

New Piccrust Hue.

Springfield Republican: Have the modistes yet found a name for the new color which the omnipotent authorities in Paris say is to rival white in popularity next summer? It is described as "a new shade of putty" with "just a tinge of biscuit. How would 'piccrust' do?"

Eau Claire Leader: Wisconsin will not be represented at the Jamestown exposition—not even in this year of wonderful prosperity. The Badger state is too poor to put up even a lumberman's shanty on the grounds of what promises to be a world's fair of great magnitude. Steve Adams Case Goes to Jury.

Wallace, Idaho, March 7.—The case of Steve Adams, charged with the murder of Fred Tyler, was given to the jury Wednesday. Judge Richardson, for the defense, took exception to Judge Wood's charge to the jury. He alleged that in framing his instructions the judge accepted few of those offered by the defense, but incorporated a large proportion of those offered by the state. No reference to the Western Federation of Miners appeared in the instructions of the court.

Spooner to Be Hill's Counsel.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 7.—John C. Spooner, of Wisconsin, who resigned his seat in the United States senate, is to become chief counsel and general adviser of James J. TRIAL OF THE BROWN LAWSUIT DRAGS ON Concluding Arguments Not Likely to Be Made Before Tomorrow Morning.

In circuit court today the work of taking testimony in the action of John Brown vs. the City of Janesville was continued. John Souham, City Engineer, Kerch, and many others being called to the witness stand. Mr. Souham testified that he bought the tobacco from the Brown farm, at 14 and 4 and that there was an unusually good crop, what there was of it. At three o'clock this afternoon it seemed likely that the arguments would not be commenced until tomorrow morning. Attorneys W. J. King and Charles E. Vroman of Chicago and I. M. McKevitt of Milwaukee, counsel for the St. Paul road, arrived in the city this morning. The cases in which they are interested will probably be taken up tomorrow.

LOCAL LAONICS.

Married in Rockford: Miss Margaret Clough and Mr. Hurb Abblet, both of Janesville, were married in Rockford yesterday afternoon. After securing their license they were married by Rev. F. M. Sheldon.

To Change His Name: John Willard Kimball, age 16, of No. 4 Sinclair street, has filed a declaration with the register of deeds of the changing of his name to John Thoroughgood Kimball, it being his desire to take the name of his grandfather on the mother's side.

Dead News from Portage: Mrs. Fred Sheldon, nee Miss Mabel Fletcher, today received the sad news of the death of her father at Portage this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon departed for that city on the ten-thirty train.

Magazine Swindler: City Marshal Appleby has received notice from the Butterick Publishing Co. of New York that a swindler offering the Delinquent, a fashion journal, at reduced rates, claiming his daughter is to receive a free education if he secures 1,000 subscribers; and usually signing receipts as George C. Adam, is working in this section of the country. Twenty-five dollars is offered for his arrest and conviction.

Miss Gutter gave Reading: In the account published in Wednesday's Gazette of the entertainment at the Cargill M. E. church Tuesday evening, mention of the splendid reading of "The Honor of the Wood" by Miss Mina. Cutler, No. 3 Sinclair street, was inadvertently omitted.

Drunks in Court: In municipal court today Fred Sherman was sentenced to spend 5 days, William Waldron 10 days, and Thomas McCarthy 8 days, in the county jail, as a punishment for drunkenness. Christ Erickson paid a fine and costs of $4.10 for the same offense.

Doane Wright Night Clerk: Doane Wright will take the desk as night clerk at the Grand Hotel tonight and Clarence Brown will resume his position as day clerk.

In Justice Court: In Judge Reeder's court yesterday Sylvester Morgan, by his guardian, secured a judgment in his unlawful detainer action against F. W. Peters and the officer is empowered to force the removal of the defendant from the premises. The actions of P. M. Dulin against C. M. O'Keefe and against F. H. Brookman were adjourned to March 20 and that of the same plaintiff against E. Siebold to March 27. The case of Hilton & Sadler vs. E. J. Park was today adjourned to March 20. It is an action to attach the defendant's trunk and library for debt, he having formerly conducted a correspondence school with the plaintiff's office headquarters and having suddenly departed for parts unknown.

Social Union Postponed: On account of the nineteenth being primary day and in order not to interfere with other events scheduled for that evening, the March meeting of the Social Union club has been postponed and will be held on the twenty-sixth.

An Opportunity You Should Not Miss: The entire change to be made in the Lowell Stores, will, when completed, make one of the handsomest fronts in the city. During the progress of the work it is the intention of Leonard Underwood Co. to make a clean sweep of the stock. A partition has been constructed cutting off the entrance to the grocery department but you will find a welcome at the dry goods door. Prices have been so reduced that every article is a bargain and by reference to their announcements in this paper you will no doubt find something that you need at a price you can afford to pay.

All nominations are individual and the choice of officers will be made on election day. This between three and four hundred dollars is saved.

Sewing in Graded Schools.
The board of education has decided to incorporate sewing in the curriculum of the graded schools and about an hour a day will be devoted to the work. The project has been given aid by the federated women's clubs of the city, a sum of $75 having been donated. For the past few years the women, who brought about this introduction of sewing, have been conducting a sewing class in one of the kindergartens.

Mass Election Arranged.
To determine whether or not the city shall build a new high school the board has called a mass meeting for March 22, at which time a vote will be taken.

Beloit Defeated Monroe.
In Monroe last night the Beloit Y. M. C. A. basketball team won from the Monroe association by a score of 24 to 23.

River Carnival at Harlem.
E. H. Coe, traveling representative of a large fireworks firm, was in the city today and announced that he was making arrangements for a river carnival at Harlem Park, Rockford, for some time in August. His plan is to have a bonfire and pyrotechnic display upon the water. Prizes will be awarded for the best decorated craft of the various classes.

Mortuary News.
Mrs. Margaret Craig, a resident of Wisconsin for nearly seventy years, died at 11:20 o'clock this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. J. Laird, 104 North Academy street. She had been ill about three weeks and her demise was due to general debility. The deceased was born in England, May 9, 1830, and came to Wisconsin at the age of nine. For sixty-six years she resided at New Digings, near Shullsburg, and two years ago came to Janesville to make her home with her daughter. Eight children are left to mourn—Henry Willson of New Digings, Mrs. Mary A. Richardson of Jefferson, Ia., Joseph Craig of Shullsburg, Frank Craig of Craig, Ia., Mrs. M. J. Laird of this city, Mrs. William Peacock of Jefferson, Ia., Mrs. Frank Phillips of New Digings, and William Craig of Potosi, Wis. Short funeral services will be held at the home at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning and the body taken to New Digings at 10:40 o'clock.

Ordwin Carl Duechow
Funeral services over the remains of the late Ordwin Carl Duechow were held from the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Duechow, east of the city, at two o'clock yesterday afternoon. The German Lutheran pastor from Clinton officiated and burial was at Emerald Grove.

Mrs. Helen Edgar
The mortal remains of the late Mrs. Helen Edgar were tenderly laid at rest in Oak Hill cemetery this afternoon. The last sad rites were performed at the home of J. G. Wray, 47 Milwaukee avenue, at two o'clock. Rev. J. H. Tippett officiating and Rev. J. W. Laughlin assisting. Song services were rendered by Mrs. C. F. Yates, Mrs. Fannie Clark, E. E. Van Pool and Leonard Mathews.

OFFICIAL STANDARD FOR LIGHTING GAS

Was Received From the State Chemist at City Clerk's Office Today.

Standards of the heating value and evenness of pressure of gas, determined and made in conformity to Section 5, Chapter 459, of the laws of 1905, by Richard Fischer, state chemist, were received today by City Clerk A. E. Badger. They stipulate that one cubic foot, measured at 60 degrees Fahrenheit and under barometric pressure of 30 inches of mercury when saturated with water vapor, shall have a net heating value of not less than 600 British thermal units, as determined by means of a standard Junker's Gas Calorimeter. The pressure of the gas at any point fourteen feet above the street level shall not be less than that required to support a column of two inches of water at 60 degrees Fahrenheit nor more than that required to support a column of 3 1/2 inches of water at 60 degrees. Anyone who wants to test the Janesville illuminant is free to do so, but the company's franchise was granted by a special act of the legislature and there is no chance for the city council to take a hand in the investigation.

GROCERY BUSINESS HAS CHANGED HANDS

W. J. Bates Succeeds E. N. Fredendall in South Main Street.

The grocery stock of E. N. Fredendall at 27 South Main street has been purchased by W. J. Bates who has taken possession of the store and will conduct the business in the future. Mr. Bates is well known to Janesville people, having been in the grocery trade for the past fifteen years. The past year he has been in the employ of the Janesville Wholesale Grocery Co., and his experiences covering all branches of the business are of value. Mr. Bates will carry a high grade stock of general groceries and will figure to cater to the wants of the public; he will be under a very light expense from the fact that he will devote his personal time to the business and will therefore be enabled to make attractive prices to grocery buyers.

CHAPTER I.

How It All Began.

"We can hold out six months longer—at least six months." My mother's tone made the six months stretch encouragingly into six long years.

I see her now vividly as if it were only yesterday. We were at our scant breakfast, I as blue as was ever even 25, she as brave and confident. And hers was no mere pretense to reassure me, no cheerless optimism of ignorance, but the thorough and through courage and strength of those who flinch for no bogey that life or death can conjure. Her tone lifted me; I glanced at her and what she saw from her eyes set me on my feet. Face to the foe. The tablecloth was darned in many places, but so skillfully that you could have looked closely without detecting it. Not a lump of sugar, nor a slice of bread went to waste in that house; yet even I had to think twice to realize that we were poor, desperately poor. She did not hide our poverty; she beautified it, she dignified it into Spartan simplicity. I know it is not the glamour over the past, that makes me believe there are no women now like those of the race to which she belonged. The world, to-day, yields comfort too easily to the capable; hardship is the only mold for such character, and in those days, in this middle-western country, even the capable were strangers to hardship.

"When I was young," she went on, "and things looked black, as they have a habit of looking to the young and inexperienced—that put in with a teasing smile at me—I used to say to myself: 'Well, anyhow, they can't kill me.' And the thought used to cheer me up wonderfully. In fact, it still does."

I no longer felt hopeless. I began to gnaw my troubles again—despair is still.

"Judge Granby is a dog," said I; "yes, a dog."

"Why 'dog'?" objected my mother. "Why not simply 'mean man'?" I've never known a dog that could equal a man who set out to be 'ornery.'"

"When I think of all the work I've done for him in these three years—"

"For yourself," she interrupted. "Work you do for others doesn't amount to much, unless it's been first and best for yourself."

"But he was benefited by it, too," I urged, "and has taken life easy, and has had more clients and bigger fees than he ever had before. I'd like to give him a jolt. I'd stop nagging him to put my name in a miserable corner of the glass in his door. I'd hang out a big sign of my own over my own office door."

My mother burst into a radiant smile. "I've been waiting a year to hear that," she said.

Thereupon I had a shock of fright—inside, for I'd never have dared to show fear before my mother. There's nothing else that makes you so brave as living with some one before whom you haven't the courage to let your cowardice show its feather. If we didn't keep each other up to the mark, what a spectacle of fright and flight this world-drama would be! Vanity, the greatest of vices, is also the greatest of virtues, or the source of the greatest virtues—which comes to the same thing.

"When did you do it?" she went on, and then I knew I was in for it, and how well-founded was the suspicion that had been keeping my lips tight shut upon my dream of independence.

"I'll—I'll think about it," was my answer, in a tone which I hoped she would see was not hesitating, but reflective; "I mustn't go too far—or too fast."

"Better go too far and too fast than none at all," retorted my wise mother. "Once a tortoise beat a hare—once. It never happened again, yet the whole timid world has been talking about it ever since." And she fell into a study from which she roused herself to say: "You'd better let me bargain for the office and the furniture—and the big sign." She knew—but could not or would not teach me—how to get a dollar's worth for a dollar; would not, I suspect, for she despised parsimony, declaring it to be another virtue which is becoming only in a woman.

"Of course—when—" I began.

"We've got to do something in the next six months," she warned. And now she made the six months seem six minutes.

I had at my tongue's end something about the danger of dragging her down into misfortune; but before speaking I looked at her, and, looking, refrained. To say it to her would have been too absurd—to her who had been left a widow with nothing at all, who had educated me for college, and who had helped me through my first year there—helped me with money, I mean. But for what she gave besides, more, immeasurably more—but for her courage in me, and round me and under me—I'd never have got my degree or anything else, I fear. To call that courage help would be like saying the mainspring helps the watch to go. I looked at her. "They can't kill me, can they?" said I, with a laugh which sounded so brave that it straightway made me brave.

So it was settled.

But that was the first step in a fight I can't remember even now without a sinking heart. The farmers of Jackson county, of which Pulaski was the county seat, found in litigation their chief distraction from the stupefying dullness of farm life in those days of pause, after the Indian and nature had been conquered and before the big world's arteries of thought and action had penetrated. The farmers took eagerly to litigation to save themselves from stagnation. Still, a new lawyer, especially if he was young, had an agonizing time of it convincing their slow, stiff, suspicious natures that he could be trusted in such a crisis as "going to law."

To make matters worse, I fell in love.

Once—it was years afterward, though not many years ago—Burbank, at the time governor, was with me, and we were going over the main points for his annual message. One of my suggestions—my orders to all my agents, high and low, have always been sugar-coated as "suggestions"—started a new train of thought in him, and he took pen and paper to fix it before it had a chance to escape. As he wrote, my glance wandered along the shelves of the book-cases. It paused on the farthest and lowest shelf. I rose and went there, and found my old school-books, those I found when I was in public school No. 3, too, near 30 years ago!

In the shelf one book stood higher than the other—tall and thin and rugged, its covers torn, its pages scribbled, stained and dog-eared. Looking through that old physical geography was like a first talk with a long-lost friend. It had, indeed, been my old friend. Behind its broad back I had eaten forbidden apples. I had aimed and discharged the blow-gun; I had reveled in blood-and-thunder tales that made the drowsy schoolroom fade before the vast wilderness, the scene of breathless struggles between Indian and settler, or open into the high seas where pirate, or worse-than-pirate Britisher, struck flag to American privateer or man-of-war.

On an impulse shot up from the dustiest depths of memory, I turned the old geography sideways and examined the edges of the cover. Yes, there was the cache I had made by splitting the pasteboard with my jack-knife. I thrust in my finger-nail; out came a slip of paper. I glanced at Burbank—he was busy. I, somewhat stealthily, you may imagine, opened the paper and—well, my heart beat more rapidly as I saw in a school-girl scrawl:

I was no longer master of a state; I was a boy in school again. I could see her laboring over this game of "friendship, love, indifference, hate." I could see "Redney" Griggs, who sat between her and me, in the row of desks between and parallel to my row and hers—could see him swoop and snatch the paper from her, look at it, grin maliciously, and toss it over to me. I was in grade A, was 16, and was beginning to take myself seriously. She was in grade D, but looked older—and how sweet and pretty she was! She had black hair, thick and wavy, with little tresses escaping from plaits and ribbons to float about her forehead, ears and neck. Her skin was darker then, I think, than it is now, but it had the same smoothness and glow—certainly it could not have had more.

I think the dart must have struck that day—why else did I keep the bit of paper? But it did not trouble me until the first winter of my launching forth as "Harvey Sawyer, Attorney and Counselor at Law." She was the daughter of the Episcopal preacher; and, as every one thought well of the prospects of my mother's son, our courtship was undisturbed. Then, in the spring, when fortune was at its coldest and love at its most feverish, her father accepted a call to a church in Boston, eight miles away.

To go to see her was impossible; how could the money be spared—$50 at the least? Once—when they had been gone about four months—my mother insisted that I must. But I refused, and I do not know whether it was to my credit or not for my refusal gave her only pain, whereas the sacrifices she would have had to make, had I gone, would have given her only pleasure. I had no fear that Betty would change in our separation.

There are some people you rope are stanch, and some people you think will be stanch, if—, and then there are those, many women and a few men, whom it is impossible to think of as false or even faltering. I did not fully appreciate that quality then for my memory was not then dotted with the graves of false friendships and littered with the rubbish of broken promises; but I did appreciate it enough to build securely upon it.

Build? No, that is not the word. There may be those who are stimulated to achievement by being in love, though I doubt it. At any rate, I was not one of them. My love for her absorbed my thoughts, and paralyzed my courage. Of the qualities that have contributed to what success I may have had, I put in the first rank a disposition to see the gloomiest side of the future. But it has not helped to make my life happier, invaluable though it has been in preventing misadventure from catching me napping.

So another year passed. Then came hard times—real hard times. I had some clients—enough to insure mother and myself a living, with the interest on mortgage and note kept down. But my clients were poor, and poor pay, and slow pay. Nobody was doing well but the note-shavers. I—How mother fought to keep the front brave and bright—not her front, for that was bright by nature, like the sky beyond the clouds; but our front, my front—the front of our affairs.

You'd Better Let Me Bargain for the Furniture and the Big Sign.

No one must see that we were pinching—so I must be the most obviously prosperous young lawyer in Pulaski. What that struggle cost her I did not then realize; no, could not realize until I looked at her face for the last time, looked and turned away and thought on the meaning of the lines and the hollows over which Death had spread his proclamation of eternal peace. I have heard it said of those markings in human faces: "How ugly!" But it seems to me that, to any one with eyes and imagination, line and wrinkle and hollow always have the somber grandeur of tragedy. I remember my mother when her face was smooth and had the shallow dove on. But her face whereon was written the story of fearlessness, sacrifice and love—that is the face beautiful of my mother for me.

In the midst of those times of trial, when she had ceased to smile—for she had none of that hypocritical cheerfulness which depresses and is a mere vanity to make silly onlookers cry "Bravé!" when there is no true bravery—just when we were at our lowest ebb, came an offer from Bill Domblick to put me into politics.

I had been interested in politics ever since I was seven years old. I recall distinctly the beginning:

On a November afternoon—it must have been November, though I remember that it was summer-weather, with all the windows open and many men in the streets in shirt-sleeves—at any rate, I was on my way home from school. As I neared the court house I saw a crowd in the yard, and was reminded that it was election day, and that my father was running for reelection to the state senate; so, I bolted for his law office in the second story of the Masonic temple, across the street from the court house.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May be Sapping Your Life Away. Janesville People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Janesville testimony to prove it.

Mrs. Joseph Gower of 6 Park Ave., Janesville, Wis., says: "Dull aching and pain in the loins often extended around to my sides and there seemed to be no relief from the misery it brought me. Sometimes I was actually unfit for work. I used liniments, and hot applications and tried various remedies but all the time I was growing worse. Finally I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended in our papers and got a box at the People's Drug Co. They gave me some relief almost instantly and in a few days after taking the first dose the backache and misery left me. I gained and since then have had no return of the trouble."

MAY START SECOND SUIT

PLANS OF MRS. EDDY'S SON AND OTHER RELATIVES STATED.

Case May Be Instituted in Massachusetts—Chandler Says Early Trial Is Desired.

Boston, March 7.—Former United States Senator William E. Chandler, special attorney for George Washington Glover, of Lead, S. D., and other relatives of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, who have brought suit against Christian Science officials in three states, announced Wednesday night that possibly a second suit will be instituted in either the state or federal court in Massachusetts.

Mr. Chandler has been in consultation here for two days with the other counsel for the plaintiff. In addition to the former senator, there were present at the conference John W. Kelley, of Portsmouth, N. H., Nathaniel E. Martin of Concord, N. H., and F. W. Peabody of this city. Mr. Peabody has entered the case as associate counsel.

At the close of the conference, the following statement was issued by Mr. Chandler:

"It has been decided to serve immediately the processes on the four New Hampshire defendants, Calvin A. Frye, Irving C. Tomlinson, Herman C. Hering and Lewis C. Strang, and to give notice to the Massachusetts defendants so that they may be present and join in the New Hampshire suit if they choose. If they do not join in the suit, possibly a second suit will be instituted in Massachusetts—in the state or federal court."

"It was decided to begin immediately the taking of the testimony in the various places in both states and get ready for trial as soon as possible."

TO PREVENT A COPPER MERGER

Michigan Legislature Hurrying to Pass Bill Before March 12.

Lansing, Mich., March 7.—Legislation affecting the reported effort of the Calumet and Hecla Mining company to get control of the Centennial, Allouez and Osceola copper mining properties was put in progress in the Michigan legislature Wednesday. A bill to prevent the stockholders in one company from voting the majority of stock in another was introduced, passed by the senate, and made the special order for Thursday in the house. Its backers are, planning to make every effort to have the bill enacted and given effect before the annual meetings of some of these companies on March 12. By an act passed two years ago the Michigan anti-trust law was rendered ineffective in regard to mining companies.

Divorce Industry Is Killed.

Pierre, S. D., March 7.—The house Wednesday passed the senate divorce bill, requiring a residence of one year in the state and three months in the county, before beginning a divorce suit, without hearings in open court. This new law kills the divorce industry of the state which has become distasteful to people of South Dakota.

Golden State Limited Delayed.

El Paso, Tex., March 7.—The Rock Island Golden State limited train which left here Tuesday for Chicago, was partly wrecked near Tony, N. M., 225 miles north of here, some time after midnight. The engine and four cars left the track, which was badly torn up. One passenger and a mail clerk were slightly injured.

Sheldon Signs Low Fare Bill.

Lincoln, Neb., March 7.—Gov. Sheldon, shortly before midnight, signed the two-cent railroad fare bill. A few moments later the bill would have become effective, with or without executive approval.

Gunboat Hurries to Salvador.

San Diego, Cal., March 7.—The gunboat Princeton left Tuesday night for San Salvador, under hurry orders to join the cruiser Chicago in Central American waters.

Severe Pains

When a prominent nerve is affected, the pain is severe. It is called neuralgia. It may be in either the head or body. Relief comes only when this nerve trouble is overcome. By its soothing and strengthening influence upon the nervous system Dr. Miles' Nerve moves the cause.

"It was about two years ago that I was taken down with what the doctors diagnosed was neuralgia, and some called it lightning rheumatism. Sharp pains would go from one place to another mostly in my head, and they would last two or three days before I could get relief. During these spells I would be so nervous that I hardly knew what I was doing. The pains were so severe and exhausting that my husband would have to steady me while walking across the room. I would have fever, and my heart would palpitate, and in a day or two I would feel better. Just as soon as I would expose myself, the very least I was sure to have a spell of neuralgia. I might just as well take water; my gut kept writhing me to just try Dr. Miles' Nerve and I am thankful that I was persuaded to do so. For the Nerve has cured me—has driven it out of my system."

DAVIS TRIAL IS BLOCKED

LIKELY TO BE TIED UP INDEFINITELY ON LEGAL POINTS.

Defense in Iroquois Fire Case Will Attack Validity of the Chicago Ordinance.

Danville, Ill., March 7.—The trial of Will J. Davis, charged with manslaughter on account of the fire in the Iroquois theater at Chicago in 1903, is now at a standstill so far as evidence is concerned, and promises to be tied up in the courts indefinitely on legal points. It may be carried to the supreme court before the trial itself can go on. The witnesses have been released and have returned to Chicago subject to further notice.

When the prosecution had finished its statement to the jury Wednesday the defense waived the right of address temporarily. The prosecution had scarcely begun to question the first witness when the defense objected to the entire proceedings and moved to have the court direct the prosecution to introduce, first of all, the Chicago ordinance the alleged violation of which resulted as claimed, in the fire and in the indictment. Notice was served that the validity of the ordinance would be attacked. If the ordinance was invalid, then as argued, there was no law to violate and Davis is guilty of no crime. The entire afternoon until time of adjournment was consumed by Levy Mayer in arguing this point.

The argument by both sides of this point is likely to consume several days. Assistant State Attorney Kimbark, of Chicago, who has made a specialty of this ordinance, has been sent for to participate in the argument. When this point has been passed to the court, another vital one will be submitted. The defense offers to admit the facts. The prosecution denies its right to do so. If the defense can admit the facts, then the prosecution will be denied its chance to introduce witnesses some of whom were maimed in the fire.

ASHORE ON MOLOKAI ISLAND.

British Steamer Lochgarvie, Probably Will Be a Total Loss.

Honolulu, March 7.—The British ship Lochgarvie is ashore at Kamalo on Molokai island. Steamers have been sent to her assistance. The Lochgarvie mistook the channel. She went ashore last Monday and will probably be a total loss. The Lochgarvie was bound from Antogaasta, Chili, to Honolulu. She carries a cargo of nitre.

London, March 7.—The British steamer Tampion, Capt. Westcott, which left London March 5 for New Orleans, has gone ashore near Terenure. All attempts to float her have so far proved unsuccessful.

Bridgetown, Barbados, March 7.—The British steamer Riffswood, from Cardiff Feb. 9, for Barbados and Trinidad, with soft coal, is reported to be on fire off the island of St. Lucia.

No woman's happiness can be complete without children; it is her nature to love and want them as much so as it is to love the beautiful and pure.

The critical ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so fraught with dread, pain, suffering and danger, that the very thought of it fills her with apprehension and horror. There is no necessity for the reproduction of life to be either painful or dangerous. The use of Mother's Friend so prepares the system for the coming event that it is safely passed without any danger. This great and wonderful remedy is always applied externally, and has carried thousands of women through the trying crisis without suffering.

Send for free book containing information of prices and value to all expectant mothers.

DAVIS TRIAL IS BLOCKED

LIKELY TO BE TIED UP INDEFINITELY ON LEGAL POINTS.

Defense in Iroquois Fire Case Will Attack Validity of the Chicago Ordinance.

Danville, Ill., March 7.—The trial of Will J. Davis, charged with manslaughter on account of the fire in the Iroquois theater at Chicago in 1903, is now at a standstill so far as evidence is concerned, and promises to be tied up in the courts indefinitely on legal points. It may be carried to the supreme court before the trial itself can go on. The witnesses have been released and have returned to Chicago subject to further notice.

When the prosecution had finished its statement to the jury Wednesday the defense waived the right of address temporarily. The prosecution had scarcely begun to question the first witness when the defense objected to the entire proceedings and moved to have the court direct the prosecution to introduce, first of all, the Chicago ordinance the alleged violation of which resulted as claimed, in the fire and in the indictment. Notice was served that the validity of the ordinance would be attacked. If the ordinance was invalid, then as argued, there was no law to violate and Davis is guilty of no crime. The entire afternoon until time of adjournment was consumed by Levy Mayer in arguing this point.

The argument by both sides of this point is likely to consume several days. Assistant State Attorney Kimbark, of Chicago, who has made a specialty of this ordinance, has been sent for to participate in the argument. When this point has been passed to the court, another vital one will be submitted. The defense offers to admit the facts. The prosecution denies its right to do so. If the defense can admit the facts, then the prosecution will be denied its chance to introduce witnesses some of whom were maimed in the fire.
